I worked with supposedly "depressed" young people for 23 years, and had huge success in using poetry to reveal stresses children have had to accept quietly to do what parental domination requires.

Hard candy is only sold at Walmart btw :) It's about six bucks.

The two-nation theory should automatically have ceased to exist as there was only one nation living in Pakistan.